SECRETARY J. W. WALLACE TO MAKE SACRAMENTO TRIP

The Chamber of Commerce has been invited to be represented at a meeting of the Industrial Housing Department of the State to be held in Sacramento September 6th. Secretary Wallace will participate in the meeting as far as the housing interests of Richmond.

NEW RATES FOR FREIGHT ARE NOW IN EFFECT

According to a statement issued by the Southern Pacific the increased freight rates in effect throughout the country today will add legitimately not more than 2 per cent to the cost of living.

If a woman pays an increase of over 2-3 cents on a suit brought from New York by freight she is the victim of profiteering, according to the railroad's estimates.

If a man pays more than 4 1-2 cents increase on a pair of shoes brought from New York, he is being victimized.

The railroad's statement is made clear to the consuming public the exact extent of the freight increases as they affect day by day consumption, have followed the lead of the railroad brotherhoods, which in their fight for wage increases presented figures showing, for one instance, how an increased labor cost of 15 cents in the manufacture of a pair of shoes was used as the excuse to extort $3.50 increase in the retail price.

In a statement accompanying the table, the railroad company, quoting the opinion of its officials, warned the public "beware of unscrupulous dealers who may be tempted to use freight rate increases as the guise for raising their prices more than they should."

The statement declared that the actual freight rise on finished products is about 1 per cent, but that the final shipment is not alone to be considered, but also the transportation charges on raw materials to the place of manufacture.

It is pointed out that the increase to the consumer would be higher on bulky articles, like coal, and said: "For example, the carload rate on coal moving from Castle Gate, Utah, to San Francisco, which is the ordinary rail haul, the freight charge formerly was $5.80 and is now $7.25, an increase of $1.45 per ton."

The San Francisco Retail Coal Dealers' Association yesterday increased the retail price on such coal $3 a ton. The price of coal coming by rail from elsewhere was uniformly advanced $2, the dealers declaring that on some types of coal they would lose proportionately a few cents a ton. The price increase is an advance of more than 13 per cent.

The railroad's statement touched on passenger rates, saying: "While the increase in passenger rates produces much smaller additional revenue than the new freight rates, they strike more directly at the average man's pocketbook. Even where railroad officials point out that while the man who earned $4 a day five years ago, paid at the basic rate of 3 cents a mile, the same man today earns from $7 to $8 per day and even with an increased basic rate he is able to travel on a day's pay approximately 40 per cent further than five years ago."

FORESTALL COMPETITION
Concerted efforts are being made all throughout the country to forestall any attempt on the part of dealers to increase prices unduly on the pretense that the increases are made necessary by the increase in freight rates recently allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission to enable the railroads to pay the increase in freight rates an excuse for increased profits. In order that the public may understand to just what extent the increase in freight rates actually affects the cost of a commodity, facts are being placed before the people.

Such a presentation has not been possible in many other instances, particularly in the case of the excess profits tax. Manufacturers naturally took their taxes into consideration when they fixed their prices. The excess profits tax affected different concerns in a varying degree. When people complained of prices, war tax was the brief but incontrovertible explanation. Every time a commodity changed hands it had a little more added to its price because of war tax, and it is the general impression that each man who added the tax added a margin of additional profit for himself.

However that may be, it is practicable to determine with a fair degree of definiteness what additional sum can be justified in fixing prices on account of increased freight rates. It is shown, for instance, from railroad reports to the Interstate Commerce Commission, that the annual freight bill is in the neighborhood of $4,000,000, and it is estimated that the value of the commodities carried is about $80,000,000,000. That means that the freight paid averages about 5 per cent of the value of the commodities. That is five cents on the dollar's worth of goods. An increase of 25 per cent in freight rates means less than one and a half cents on the dollar's worth of goods.

Many who comment upon the subject declare that from a practical standpoint it will devolve largely on the railroads themselves to protect the country from a new upward movement of prices unjustly attributed to increased freight rates. It is pointed out that if unreasonable price advances are made on the claim that the increases are made necessary by the freight rates, the effect will be to create prejudice against the railroads and their managers. In order to protect themselves against such an undesirable outcome, it is urged that if unreasonable increases are made on this pretext, the railroads should make public the exact extent to which increased prices are justified.

From no part of the country has there come any protest against the increase in freight rates. It is recognized that for a long time the income of the railroads, under rates kept down by the Interstate Commerce Commission, has been inadequate. Increases in cost of operation due to increased wages and costs of materials, have made the income still more inadequate. Increases in cost of operation due to increased wages and costs of materials, have made the income still more inadequate, and an advance of freight and passenger rates was necessary in order to enable the roads to continue to operate at all. Since the roads have been returned to private ownership, the number of employees has been reduced and other economies will be effected, so that the charge upon the public will be relatively less than would be the case under continued government operation, during which a part of the railroad income was made up from the United States Treasury and paid by the people in federal taxes.

AROUND THE WORLD BY WIRELESS
The wireless has been invented and perfected within the memory of men still young, yet now we read that radio messages are being sent round the world. When it was first published that Marconi had been able to transmit messages without wires, people put their tongues in their cheeks, shook their heads and smiled. It passed the belief even of those who felt that there is but little impossible to man. Today we find its use almost as common as the telephone and many boys just entering their teens have their rooms fitted with wireless apparatus and receive messages from ships at sea, from great wireless stations from their boy friends who are similarly equipped. The writer knows of one case where two boys, both confined to their rooms by illness, amused themselves by playing checkers by wireless. And neither of these boys had reached his sixteenth birthday. When we contemplate the great advances in science for the past forty years we cannot repress a feeling of wonder as to what the future may have in store. Communication with other planets, which most people regard now as visionary, may become the commonplace of the next generation. The opportunities are not all in the past—the future has much more to show.

The forthcoming corn crop is estimated at 2,000,000,000 bushels which will be offered as an excuse, we suppose, for boosting the price of meat next winter. The surplus is so large the farmers will lose money if they don't charge an extortionate price for the crop.

Any man who will take a trip through the farming sections and find out the actual prices received by the men who produce the crops, and then compare them with what the consumer pays, may be able to understand something about why living is so high.

One million pounds of sugar, sunk in the East River, seems an expensive way to sweeten a rather sour stream. But the tears of the profiteers who will weep over their loss would doubtless be sufficient to dissolve several billion pounds.

An English editor was surprised to learn that copy boys on American newspapers don't wear skates. He doubtless underestimates the average copy boy's ability to make a noise without the additional advantage of skates.

TAPSCOTT PARK LOTS OFFERED TO PUBLIC

E. N. Tapscott, the largest individual subdivider of real estate on the Pacific Coast, and known throughout California for the magnitude of his operations, today announced the placing of Tapscott Park, immediately adjoining the business section of Richmond, on sale on a $1 down and $1 a week basis. Nearly $500,000 has been spent in improving this property, and Tapscott states that he is going to make the sale "the greatest real estate sale ever held in the west." In speaking of Tapscott Park, he said: "This property is one of the finest I have ever put on the market. It is the hub of Richmond, with its location of San Pablo avenue where MacDonald avenue and Cutting Boulevard, the two main business streets of Richmond, cross San Pablo avenue and enter Tapscott Park. The property offers both business locations along San Pablo avenue, and residence sites as the property slopes gently upward from San Pablo avenue, with a wonderful view of Richmond, the bay and Golden Gate, San Francisco, Berkeley and Oakland from the higher portion of the property.

"In order to make the sale the greatest ever held in the west, I am not only offering every lot in Tapscott

Park for $1 down and $1 a week, but have cut prices until hundreds of the lots are below the cost of the street improvements if the work was done at present prices.

"Richmond today is the fastest growing city on the coast. With the harbor development work being done, the $2,000,000 plant of Procter & Gamble located here, with the $5,000,000 improvements being made to the Standard Oil Company's plant and the $5,000,000 Pacific Port Terminal just south of the Richmond Inner Harbor—Richmond offers wonderful opportunities for the small investor.

"For the sixteen years that I have been engaged in the real estate subdivision business in California I have endeavored to merit the confidence of all those with whom I have done business. During that time I have become acquainted with hundreds of investors throughout the state, and wish that all of them could see this property, as I consider it one of the best real estate buys on the market at the present prices and terms for which it is being offered. Any one knowing me and my methods of doing business knows that they can rely on any statement I make.

"As evidence of the high type of this property is the fact that the Berkeley Country Club and golf course is situated just two blocks back of Tapscott Park, with the main entrance and drive to the clubhouse running through Tapscott Park."

"Fishermen are now advocating a barbless hook," says the Kansas City Star, "in order to give the fish a fair chance for their lives. What about a wormless fishhook, also, in order to give the worms a fair shake?"

"She's an intelligent young woman." "Decidedly." "And yet I understand that she is popular. How do you account for that?" When she goes to a dance she checks her brains, figuratively speaking, at the door."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Look young! Nobody can tell if you use Grandmother's simple recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost every one knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.—Adv.

Improved Mathematics

The teacher had been explaining fractions to her class. When she had discussed the subject at length, wishing to see how much light had been shed, she inquired:

"Now, Bobby, which would you prefer, one apple or two halves?" The little chap promptly replied: "Two halves."

"Oh, Bobby," exclaimed the young woman, a little disappointedly. "Why would you prefer two halves?" "Because then I could see if it was bad inside."—London Opinion.

Our Printer President

Now looms the presidential shakeup with Harding and Cox in line; The country hopes for a better "make-up."

Whoever wins this time. Both men are printers, I'll say. And know their business to the letter.

They'll set "us" the proper way And make the nation's "lay out" better.

Both candidates know all about the "type." And use both modest "heads" and "serifed."

Which makes us think it is a try. Each knows the U. S. taste in "features."

Neither party had the pluck To stand for or against Mr. Booke; It's probably good luck Each stand behind a "nose for news."

With a printer president, I'll say The nation hopes to get the "proof." Doing away with secret Jack-play, And give the U. S. all the truth.

A printer president, I'll say. He knows a lot about "pi." He will "clean up" the U. S. A. "Reset" us and make us a good "tie."

Weather Man Says That the Storm is Passed

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—That the unusual weather conditions, that have prevailed throughout the state during the last few days, soon will disappear, is predicted by local Weather Forecaster Beale. Reports from other bureaus in the West indicate that no further rainfall or atmospheric disturbance is likely.

No reports of damage to crops have been received here, but orchardists, who are drying their fruit at this time, were threatened with serious loss if rain continued.

Weather Bureau officials explain that Tuesday's storms were due to an atmospheric depression centered over Western Montana, which has affected the weather in every State west of the Rocky Mountains, California especially being affected.

Three overland trains were held up in the Coache Valley three hundred miles east of Los Angeles by a cloudburst which washed out a portion of the roadbed. A cloudburst also caused a washout on the San Diego-Imperial valley highway east of El Centro.

In the north, heavy rains were reported to have done considerable damage near the head of the Tuolumne river.

Torrential rains subdued a fire which had been raging in the Stanislaus forest and already had burned nearly 15,000 acres.

"Turning Point" Film Attraction At the Theatre

Katherine Agnew MacDonald, adjudged the most beautiful woman in the world in sixteen beauty contests, perhaps has more feminine admirers who claim resemblance to her than any other star in the motion picture firmament.

At least that is the claim of the charming actress, who will be seen in her latest First National starring vehicle, "The Turning Point," at the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow, and her claim seems to be well founded, judging from the amount of mail she receives daily at her studios in Los Angeles.

This mail contains scores of requests for photographs and for her opinion on the eligibility of amateurs to enter film-land. She would have no time for acting if she were to answer all of these epistles personally.

Western Michigan, according to the latest accounts, boasts of more blue eyed blondes bearing resemblance to Miss MacDonald than any other section of the country. That's what the editor and the judges in a newspaper contest at Grand Rapids to determine the girl who looked most like Miss MacDonald say.

"The wets have no chance in this community," "None whatever," replied Bill Bottelup. "Some of us even got absent minded and gave three cheers when the news came around that the town pump had one dry."—Washington Star.

EL CERRITO TRUSTEES MEETING

All members of the board of trustees of El Cerrito were present at the meeting held last evening.

Martin Aronson, a deaf mute, presented a communication to the board in which he stated that his lots had been sold for taxes and he had not received notice of the effect, and he asked for the return of $42. City attorney Wildgrube advised the board that there was no notice in the law that provided for notice to be sent.

City Health Officer J. T. Breneman informed the board he would attend the public health convention to be held in San Francisco next month, if the city would bear his expenses. The matter was taken under consideration.

Resolution of intention for the improvement of Kearney street was put over for one week.

Marshal A. H. Mackinnon reported that a big truck had gone through the Behren street bridge, and he had

Wouldn't Answer

The sportsman strode into a poultryer's shop, and with the air of a man who meant business said:

"Can you sell me a nice plump pheasant?"

"I am sorry I have not a pheasant left, sir," replied the shopman; "but here are some fine sausages that I can highly recommend. I am sure your wife will be delighted with them."

"Sausages be hanged!" yelled the sportsman, "how can I tell my wife I shot sausages?"—Chicago Daily News.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, flu, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but a sufficient to make any one an enthusiast on the subject.—Ad.

Our 'Gentlemen's Agreement'

C. F. REINDOLLAR

For many years there has existed between Contra Costa and Marin counties, the 9th Senatorial District, a "gentlemen's agreement" by which the two counties alternated in the election of a State Senator. For the last two successive terms the State Senator has been selected from Contra Costa.

The people of Marin county desire to maintain the cordial relations which exist between the two counties, and they are presenting this year the candidacy of C. F. Reindollar, of Marin county, for your support. He is a man of natural ability, trained mind, an attorney of long standing, and he is familiar with agricultural and industrial problems of the district. Having been a school teacher, he is conversant with our state school system.

Marin county now respectfully asks you, in that spirit of fairness which has always existed in the past, to vote at the Primary, August 31, 1920, for C. F. REINDOLLAR for State Senator.

Respectfully submitted,
